AT THE EXPOSITION.

FACTS AND INCIDENTS OF THE DAY NOTED.

Florida Coming En Masse to the Exposition—The North Carolina Press Men to be Here To-Day—Postmaster-General James and Party to be on the Grounds To-Day, Etc.

It is the general verdict that the attendance of yesterday at the exposition was the largest of any previous day. The visitors all seemed to be deeply interested in the exhibits. One pleasing feature of the exposition is, that while articles of art and curiosity are daily appreciated, nine-tenths of the visitors seem to be more deeply engrossed in the displays of machinery and labor-saving apparatus, and in this predilection the ladies are, if anything, the most enthusiastic. This is gratifying as showing that our people have made up their minds to take a higher position in the world of work than they have held hitherto, and they are carefully studying the means that will help them to this end.

Postmaster-General James will be among the visitors to the exposition to-day. The drummers will be on the grounds in a body.

The North Carolina editors will also forget their cares for a season, while they view the wonders of the world.

Our Guests.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL JAMES AND THE PRO-GRAMME FOR TO-DAY.

Postmaster-General James, accompanied by Mrs. James, Assistant Postmaster-General Elmer and wife, Mr. Frank H. Johnson, Mr. J. H. Johnson, superintendent of the railway mail service; Mr. Jamison, assistant postmaster; Mr. Van Worman, chief clerk of the post-office department; and Mrs. Bonney Hamilton, reached the city yesterday afternoon at 11 o'clock. The party was met at the depot by Postmaster-Conley and escorted to the Kimball house. The distinguished party will be taken to the exposition to-day and shown the city and exposition under the following programme:

After breakfast ex-Governor Conley and Messrs. Peck, Root and Fitten, of the executive committee, will accompany the distinguished visitors in a drive around the city and through the exposition. At 11 o'clock, when they will be met by a delegation of the New York exhibitors' association and escorted through the main entrance, and afterwards lunch at Jones's restaurant. At 2 o'clock Postmaster-General James will be escorted to the office of President Conley at the executive plaza, where all citizens who desire can pay their respects and then take their seats in Judge's hall, where a formal reception will be tendered by the postmaster general in behalf of the exposition authorities and of the New York exhibitors.

The meeting at Judge's hall is the only opportunity the people of this city will have to meet the postmaster general, as his engagements compel him to leave by the main train which will go from here to Augusta, leaving the city at 5:45.

Resolutions from the Nashville Visitors.

The visitors from Nashville send us the following preamble and resolutions, passed during their visit to the exposition. The resolutions explain themselves. Here they are:

At a meeting of the members of the city government of Nashville, held at the Exposition hotel November 29, 1881, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, Major J. F. Cummings, a former resident of our city, but now citizen of Atlanta, by adoption, and a member of the board of managers of the great exposition, has extended to this delegation every possible courtesy; therefore,

Resolved, That the most grateful thanks of this delegation, both individually and collectively, are tendered to Major J. F. Cummings for his polite, kind and generous attentions.

Resolved, That the recorder, S. A. Dulung, of our city, be requested to transmit to Major Cummings a copy of these resolutions, and that the same be published in THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

W. A. BARRY, Secretary.
They also passed resolutions thanking Colonel J. B. Kilbree for his very courteous attention to the delegation while here.

Florida Day.
An immense excursion has left Florida and will arrive in Atlanta in time for the exercises of Florida day which is to-morrow. The exhibit of the state will be in trim order for the public and a large crowd will be in attendance.

Mr. J. W. Goslin, of the Western North Carolina, Republican, reached the city yesterday in company with his wife. Mr. Goslin, who is a representative editor of the old tar state, comes a day in advance of the North Carolina press association, which is due here to-day. Colonel Ashe, of Raleigh, the president of the association and most of its leading members will be here, and we presume that proper arrangements will be made to entertain them in befitting style, and in the meantime we beg to assure them all that the larch stringing of the Conservatory has on the outside of the outer door, and that the slightest trouble will put the gates ajar. We shall be glad to see them all.

Correcting a False Statement.

The manufacturers of Clark's O. N. T. spool cotton have every reason to feel proud of their visit to Atlanta. Little did they expect that within the space of a few weeks that the extreme popularity of their marvelous machinery and their unrivaled exhibit, which has been hailed by all classes with such enthusiasm, should have provoked the jealousy of some of the other thread manufacturers, who have rushed headlong into print in defense of their old-time Webery machine.

The spooling machinery in use by this thread maker is an old-fashioned Webery machine with a little improvement added to it by Mr. Conant, who now calls this Webery a Conant machine.

The spooling machinery in use by the manufacturers of Clark's O. N. T. spool cotton was the original invention of a man named Webery, but like most inventions, it was very imperfect at first. However, Mr. William Clark saw that there was a great deal of work in that machine for making a revolution in the winding of spool cotton. He accordingly went to work with that end in view, and he has now perfected a hereditary in the Clark family, and by his genius, he has now added and patented all these fine movements and improvements that make this machine the pride and boast of the O. N. T. manufacturers and the envy of all competitors.

To compare this machine, with its perfect improvements, to the original Webery machine, is like comparing the first sewing machine made by Elias Howe to the magnificent machines of to-day, with all their modern attachments and improvements. The thread makers who are making an abortive attempt to write down the magnificent machinery of Clark's O. N. T. made a statement in last Sunday's CONSTITUTION to the effect that the O. N. T. spooling machine was entered at Cincinnati in competition against their so-called Conant machine, and that the Conant machine was awarded the prize.

The manufacturers of Clark's O. N. T. herewith inform the people of Atlanta and the general public that such statement is false and calumnious, and calculated to mislead the public, and they cannot understand why a hitherto honorable competitor should deliberately make a false statement, and hope it was done in ignorance, and not by design.

The manufacturers of Clark's O. N. T. would have distinctly state that their spooling machine was not entered for competition at Cincinnati as falsely reported in Sunday's CONSTITUTION.

The late Lord Beaconsfield once asked who the critics were, and answered the same question himself in that he said that the critics were the men who had failed in literature and art, and the manufacturers of Clark's O. N. T. ask the same question to-day, and the answer is, "The critics are our competitors."

Every machinist who has ever examined this truly great piece of machinery, has pronounced it marvelous.

It is true that the manufacturers do not use this machine on the very fine numbers of spool cotton for the simple reason that it does too much work. Every machine turns out between 6,000 and 7,000 finished spools of cotton every day, and in the numbers where there is only a very limited sale it would spoil as much in a week as the country would consume of those fine numbers in six months.

The manufacturers of O. N. T. have now in use their mills, at Newark, N. J., seventy-eight of the most perfect spooling machines, and are building more, so that they can in order to meet the demand for their new mills now in the course of construction.

To compare the old Webery or Conant machine with that of Clark's O. N. T. is like comparing the old stage coach of 50 years ago to the magnificent railway drawing room cars of to-day.

The beauty with which some of the time manufacturers cling to old world ideas and customs is really remarkable.

The manufacturers of O. N. T. know of a manufacturer who entered their exhibit the centennial into the British department, while the exhibit it was American production.

The people of the south as a rule still believe that their favorite spool cotton is imported, and could not believe the fact if told to them, that their spool cotton is and has been made in New England for many years. The thread most in use in the south is made by an American company, namely the Conant thread company, of Pawtucket, Rhode Island.

A Reliable Tobacco.
The famous Duke of Durham tobacco are well displayed at the exposition. The exhibit in Art hall is arranged with the utmost good taste and judgment, and the attention which is secured is not surpassed in quality, and are as popular as any in the market. Tobacco dealers are especially kind in handling these goods, because the public has come to know that they are of a uniform good quality, and that their reputation will be sustained by the fact that they are made by the manufacturer of inferior goods under the name and brand which has attained such great popularity. The cigar-makers of goods of peculiarly fine quality, and guaranteed unadulterated. In buying a package of these cigarettes under the brand of the Duke the buyer can be sure of the full assurance that when opened he will find them exactly like the package which he had previously purchased, no matter how long and how far the tobacco dealer said to a construction reporter yesterday:

"There are no better goods made than those manufactured by Duke, and I tell you the sales are increasing every day, and there are no better men in the world than the members of that firm. It does mealy to deal with these houses. Nothing could be said about anybody that would be too good to be said about Duke."

A Cotton Planter and Fertilizer Distributor Com-
Planters who have come to the exposition to find labor-saving implements should not fail to see this machine, which is shown in operation daily at the Kimball house, in the agricultural building. It is a riding machine, and the only one of its kind shown at the exposition. This machine opens the furrow and puts down the fertilizer directly under the opener in large or small quantities, and covers it. Then the seed is delivered in large or small quantities (as desired) over the fertilizer and covered, and all is done at same time. The ease with which it is operated, the certainty and regularity with which it puts down the seed, and the gin, cotton seed meal, and all sorts of guano will certainly insure its rapid introduction into use throughout the whole cotton region. This machine is exhibited by Howard Hamilton, manufacturer and proprietor, P. O. address, Atlanta.

The Itinerary Guide.
One of the chief inquiries among all visitors to the exposition since the opening day, has been for a convenient and handy guide-book, containing some reliable sort, by following the directions of which they might easily and rapidly make a full and intelligent tour of the buildings and grounds. Mr. Sam W. Small, city editor of THE CONSTITUTION, at the request of a number of exhibitors and managers, has undertaken to prepare a free distribution and in neat newspaper form, a complete guide to the exposition, which will fill the above demand and answer all the pertinent questions about the most worthy and conspicuous exhibits. Mr. Small, having been private secretary to the Director-General, Kimball since the very inception of the exposition work, is fully qualified to do the work in hand to complete satisfaction and will do so. The Guide will be ready December 6th.

Japanned Work Boxes.
For sale at Clark's O. N. T. Exhibit, 10,000 Japanned work boxes of very beautiful designs. Each box containing a spool of O. N. T. Cotton and will be found a most appropriate and useful gift for the holiday season. Price, 50 cents each. nov29-dtdc30

Attention Drummers.
Drummers will please call and register their names and house at the drummer's register, in the Art hall to-day. Their names will be printed in a pamphlet containing exposition notes to be issued the 20th of December.

Exposition Notes.
—Florida day comes on the 1st.
—The press register receives new names daily.
—To-day the drummers will have a high old time.
—The Central road brought in heavily loaded trains yesterday.
—Yesterday's crowd was the best paying crowd since the opening.
—George A. Robertson, of the Chicago Tribune, is in the city visiting the exposition.
—If you want a good dinner served in good style at a moderate price, go to Jones's restaurant on the exposition grounds.
—In going around the world a man makes or loses a day according to the direction in which he travels. Stevens's watches never lose or gain a second.
—A. C. Bartow and Wm. S. Slater, two of the most prominent business men of Providence, R. I., who have been visiting the exposition, are very enthusiastic in its praise. They say that no one can visit the exposition without feeling that it is a great thing to have seen it. They were principally interested in exhibits of mica and white fibrous wood, and will visit the exposition to-day for the purpose of making a further investigation.
—The beauty of Stevens's display is that it is from the regular stock, and that what you find anything there that strikes his fancy he is not compelled to pay more than the usual price for it. This is why Stevens's sale is so large.

What the Papers Say.
Washington Post.
Senator Sherman, who has been down at Atlanta looking around the exposition, has come to the conclusion that a new era is opening for the south which will result in her greatly augmented prosperity. Such a prospect has been obvious to ordinary observers for some time past, but the Ohio senator seems to be a long while in getting far enough above his narrow horizon to catch a glimpse of it.

Atlanta Messenger.
General Sherman's visit to Atlanta last week was not his first since the burning of that place during the closing days of the war between the states. We do not see why Atlanta should not give General Sherman a hearty welcome within her gates. It often occurs that heroes are instrumental in building up a town; and if General Sherman had not burned Atlanta, perhaps Atlanta would not have attained her present prominence as the leading city of the south.

New York Herald.
The visit of General Sherman to Georgia seems to have had a good effect upon the southern people. Already we read in some of the southern newspapers expressions of the kindest character toward the north, and especially toward General Sherman. The fact that the general of the army should go to a city which he had burned and meet a people whose homes he devastated, and that he should have been received with high toned hospitality, is a gratifying incident. It shows that every year the evil passions of the war diminish. It shows that General Sherman is too magnanimous, too high minded, to have any feeling but that of kindness toward any part of the American nation. It shows that the southern people regard General Sherman not as their enemy, not as one who for any personal reason injured them, but as a great and good soldier who in the performance of severe and arduous duties was acting from a sense of responsibility to his government.

Atlanta correspondence Philadelphia Press.
The Georgia old woman makes the kind of yarn that clothes the majority of the people of the world; but Georgia and, in fact, all the cotton-growing states of the south are looking upon the prosperous New England manufacturers with an awakening desire to share in the good fortune of those who have invented machinery to replace the old spinning wheel. It is one of the great needs of the life of the south that not only is there seen and understood the immediate need of more thorough cultivation of the cotton fields, but there is also recognized the fact that at some time in the future the whole cotton business of the world must center here. The farms ought to be supplemented by the mills, and the products of the mills ought to be shipped away from southern ports, but the south ought to reap all there is of profit to be made from her cotton. As it is, we sent abroad in the fiscal year 1880 raw cotton to the value of $21,325,369, and the total value of our cotton manufactures for the same year was $23,280,000. There is not a large difference between the grand totals, but there is a very wide difference between the profits of the average farmer and those of the average manufacturer. The bulk of business very near the same, but the farmer struggles with poverty and the manufacturer receives good dividends, and the dividends are paid on an enormous capital.

Philadelphia Press.
There is nothing happening in the country so full of interest as the new movement in the south. The Atlanta cotton exposition gives force and meaning to the words, "New South." It not only makes clear their real significance, but the wonderful force which makes it proper to call a country so long settled as the southern states have been, new. Considering everything that is on exhibition at Atlanta, not only the natural riches of the south, but the genius of its people, and their determination to turn their backs to a new and better world—considering also the exposition, in its most important character, as an object school for all who visit it, it is the most important event of southern history since the close of the reconstruction period.

Dr. J. STEVENS'S
The close of the reconstruction period, south on its industrial side, is almost a virgin country. Its development has been retarded by slavery and war and politics. Some one has said that the south is more backward than any other quarter of the globe which has been half as long in the possession of the Anglo-Saxon race. This is largely true, and the force of the remark is intensified when we consider the fact that the south is the seat of the most advanced civilization of the world. The whites who live on the fruitful lands of the cotton states, and in the midst of the rich mineral deposits of Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia and Alabama, have just begun to realize how great are their opportunities; and the almost total civilization of the north and Europe wakes up to the pleasant fact that there are still more worlds to conquer.

The "new south" is now in the place of what has come to be the old west. When Iowa was a territory, Georgia was a comparatively rich and prosperous state. When capital was seeking large interest from loans in western farms, there seemed no field for it in the police-ridden south. The day has gone by when the money lender can get ten per centum from the wheat growers of Iowa; the day has come when he finds the market for his money among the cotton growers of Georgia and Mississippi.

The bonanza farms of the northwest have no strong rivals in the cotton farms of the south. The field for enterprise and investment has been enlarged by the addition of the old southern states that began abroad of the east, and now find themselves in the rear of the west.

QUINCY, ILLINOIS, November 1, 1881.
Two years ago I contracted the horrible disease, and up to May last had spent $500 for treatment by the best medical men without any benefit, on the contrary, I grew worse. My mouth and throat becoming badly ulcerated, sores breaking out on my neck and legs. I also suffered excruciatingly with rheumatism, growing very dependent, and my best friends advised me that the icy hand of death was fast approaching, and indeed I felt sure to be the case. My condition in May last, I caught at S. S. S. like a drowning man at a straw. After taking two bottles I could feel a great change for the better. The sores began to clear freely and the rheumatism to abate. When I had taken six bottles every sore had healed, my skin began to assume a natural appearance. I persisted in the use of S. S. S. until I had taken twelve bottles AND THERE IS NOT A SYMPTOM OF THE DISEASE REMAINING, and I feel as well as I ever did. I have gained 21 pounds in flesh and my friends wonder at my improved condition. I have recommended it to many and in every instance with complete success. I believe that S. S. S. has saved me from a horrible death, and wish I could induce every sufferer to do as I have done—take S. S. S. and be cured.

STEALING A CLOCK.—Yesterday morning some thief entered Major White's residence on Cross street and stole a lady's fine clock. The clock was a black one, and on the pockets were small covered buttons.

TO-DAY IS THE LAST CHANCE TO REGISTER.—Why do so many good citizens neglect the important duty of voting? And they cannot vote if they fail to register before the books close to-night.

ARRESTED ON A WARRANT.—Robert Taylor was yesterday arrested by Captain Connor. Taylor's arrest is due to a telegram from Sheriff Bussey, of Pike county, who will reach the city to-day and claim his prisoner.

DO NOT FAIL TO REGISTER.—To-day is positively the last day for the registration of voters. The books will be kept open at the city clerk's office late as 12 o'clock to-night, necessary.

TELEPHONE WARNING.—Only about 1,600 voters have registered, and yet the books have been kept open every day for weeks, and will be kept open as long as possible to-night, so that no one shall complain that he did not have time to go up after supper.

DRUGGISTS.—To-day the registration books for the druggists of Fulton county will close. So far only twelve druggists have registered, and as the law provides a heavy penalty upon any active druggist who has not registered, it would be well for them to visit Ordway's office before he closes this evening.

MIDNIGHT ASSAULT.—About two o'clock yesterday morning, as Albert Lunsley, one of the Kimball house waiters, was going to his home in the western portion of the city, and when just beyond the railroad, on Mitchell street, he was set upon by an unknown man, who with a knife and proceeded to rifle his pockets of their contents.

FIFTY CENTS ON THE DOLLAR.—Through commercial sources THE CONSTITUTION learns of the financial embarrassment of N. W. Burton, general merchant at Social Circle. His liabilities are estimated at $20,000, and his assets are unknown. During the day yesterday he was endeavoring to compromise with his Atlanta creditors at fifty cents on the dollar.

THE CHAIN GANG.—Yesterday Mr. T. H. Clarke, of the convict guard force, passed through the city with nine convicts who will devote to all ninety-nine years to the state. They are Bailey Edwards, Jack Mann, Robert Anderson, Henry Anderson, Sam Jones, Dave Aschew, Henry Lee, Alf. Sumner and Charles Williams.

WRONGLY ARRESTED.—Yesterday evening an unknown gentleman visited police headquarters and reported to Chief Connolly the loss of fifty-five dollars. He said that only a few minutes before he had been robbed of the amount at the union passenger depot, and added that he had pointed out the man who had done the deed. The chief then accompanied the gentleman to the depot, where the two suspected men pointed out and subsequently arrested, but after a short detention they succeeded in establishing the fact that they were square and were released.

TERMS EXPIRED.—Principal Keeper Nelms yesterday caused the release of six convicts, whose term of service have expired. They were George Alexander, of Fulton county, who has served four years for burglary; George Duncan, of Warren county, four years for burglary; Joe Martin, of DeKalb county, six years, burglary and simple larceny; Steadman Jack, of Richmond county, three years; Mollie Shorter, of Floyd county, three years for forgery, and Jane Sanders, of Floyd county, three years for burglary.

IN ANOTHER FIELD.—It is with sincere regret that the good people of Atlanta pathos with the presence and ministry of Rev. J. W. Hedd, who has gone from Trinity pulpit to the head of the LaGrange Female College. He was a devoted and successful Christian character, devoted to pastoral labors and ever-ready to aid in the welfare of his fellow men made him of great value as a citizen. He is followed in his new field of labor and usefulness by the warmest sympathies of this people, and will have their earnest encouragement and support.

THE CITY ELECTION.—This event is near at hand, but seems to excite only feeble interest. The only enthusiasm visible is found in the forces of the expectant negro leeches who haunt the business places of the candidates. There is no escape from them; they are as prompt to appear as death and taxes. At present it would appear from the registration books that less than one-third of our voters have qualified themselves to vote in the ensuing election and the officers elected will probably represent the choice of about one-sixth of the quota of electors. And to-day is the last one for registration.

STEALING SILK.—Yesterday morning during the temporary absence of Anna Hughes from her home on Mangum street a thief entered her bedroom and after breaking open a trunk stole a fine silk dress. The theft, as soon as ascertained, was made known to Chief Connolly, who detailed Officer Goodson to investigate the matter. Later in the evening the officer found the dress in the possession of Agnes Pitts, a colored woman, and she could give no satisfactory account of the manner in which she obtained it, she was locked up and the dress returned to the owner. Goodson was charged with larceny from the house will be sworn out by Officer Goodson.

THE MILITARY.—Captain Brewster, who is now in command at McPherson barracks, yesterday received a telegram from the headquarters of the Fifth artillery, which is to replace the few troops of the Fifth artillery now remaining here, would leave New York for Atlanta on the 5th of December. Until they arrive the barracks will remain in command of Captain Brewster. When the other batteries come it will have charge of the barracks for about a month, and will then pass on to Florida where several batteries of that regiment are stationed. The horses which have been used by the Fifth artillery will be turned over to the Third and carried on to Florida, while the Fifth will fall heir to the horses of the Third now in that state. The government lease on McPherson barracks will expire about the first of February, and then Atlanta will cease to be a military post.

ARRESTED ON A TELEGRAM.—Yesterday morning Chief Connolly received a telegram from the marshal of Fairburn, Ga., asking for the arrest of Hugh McLaure, a white man from that place who was then en route to Atlanta. The telegram contained an accurate description of Mr. McLaure and also said that the marshal was in pursuit and would soon reach Atlanta. Immediately upon the receipt of the message, Chief Connolly delegated Officer Bone to watch for him. About noon he succeeded in finding him at Morris's wagon-yard. When arrested McLaure showed great indignation and demanded a cause for his detention, but as the telegram specified no charge, his desire remained unsatisfied until the arrival of Marshal Harvey, of Fairburn. Then it was ascertained that McLaure had clandestinely left Fairburn for Texas, and that he had left many unpaid bills behind. When confronted with these charges McLaure liquidated the debts and was released.

DEATH OF E. H. PAINE.—On Sunday Captain O. F. Miller, at the Markham House, received a brief telegram announcing the death of E. H. Paine, place in Louisville of Captain E. H. Paine, formerly proprietor of the Markham house, in this city. Captain Paine died at Louisville, Kentucky, of a typhoid infection. He was well known throughout the south as the pioneer of the sleeping car business in this section; afterwards merging his business with that of the Southern Pullman sleeping car company, of which company he became the general manager. Mr. Paine, of this city, was connected with him in the business. He was married in a law firm with the company he was in, and they were partners persistently and won a large fortune. He was finally retired from it, and recently bought the Louisville transfer company, and was at the head of its affairs at the time of his death. His friends in Atlanta deeply regret the loss of a man of such high standing.

WHAT LLOYD MAX.—Some time ago one Lloyd Max, of the city, was found a rooming place in Atlanta, and at once proceeded to the canvassing and advertising a dime map of Georgia. What Max has met with we do not know, but his map, reliable, back-action, poster, and advertisement is not visible in this section to any extent, as yet. The following from the Nashville World may convey some news to his customers or acquaintances in this unmapped neck of the woods.

Yesterday evening there was some excitement in circles over the rumor that one Lloyd, who in the city last summer getting up a map of the world, would pass through the city on his way to the south. The reason so much importance was coupled with Mr. Lloyd's return to the city was that he here he succeeded in visiting various cities for different amounts, according to several thousand dollars, and the men he had swindled wanted him arrested. Lloyd was a genial, intelligent man of about fifty years of age, and quite an entertaining talker. While here, he succeeded in getting as far into the good graces of his acquaintances as to borrow several thousand dollars. When he left here it was understood this money was to be refunded as soon as the man he had borrowed from delivered, and he went to Charleston, South Carolina, ostensibly for the purpose of getting up a map of the city. A young man named Hawkins, who resides in this city, accompanied him as an agent, and while there he was arrested through some of Lloyd's associates and lodged in jail, where he was compelled to remain until released through the efforts of his family here. Since then nothing has been heard of Lloyd until yesterday, when a telegram was received from young Hawkins announcing his former employer would pass through this city yesterday, and advising his victims here to secure him while they could. Acting on this hint a number of gentlemen who had contributed to the support of this deed, beat procured an officer and repaired to the Chattanooga depot, prepared to give him a warm welcome. But Mr. Lloyd was not to be trapped in any such manner. When the train arrived the bird had flown, and the creditors are yet mourning for their cash.

THE JAIL.—There are fifty-two prisoners in the Fulton county jail. Of these six are females.

There are no white women in the jail.

Of the fifty-two prisoners twenty-eight are colored.

Follenbee is getting impatient for a trial. He says he will prove that he is no bigamist.

Turner, the Meriwether county prisoner, is looking better and his health is greatly improved.

Adderhold is looking forward to liberty, and thinks he will be free in a few days.

The prisoners spend their time in singing, dancing, and playing cards. They are glad to have anything to read.

CITY HALL POINTS.—Jackson Cox, a colored man, was yesterday adjudged a lunatic by Ordway Calhoun, and late in the afternoon was turned over to the police, who will escort him to the asylum at Milledgeville.

The grand jury is attracting considerable attention.

To-day the physicians must register or pay the penalty.

The sanitary tax books will be closed to-day and then the list is final.

Some of the police force are witnesses in nearly all the criminal cases.

Dr. Rich will be again examined by a committee on Tuesday to-morrow. The charge is preferred by Chief Connolly.

The white voters registered lively yesterday and the day before. About three hundred voters have been added since Saturday.

THE CAR SHED.—Competent judges say that the trains brought in larger crowds yesterday than upon any day this month.

The ladies' saloon is always crowded.

The trunk bands are kept quite busy.

The three morning trains bring in the crowds.

The lack of heat is the source of great complaint.

Ballard checked twenty-six hundred and thirty pieces yesterday.

A special car came in on the Air-Line with a select Richmond party.

The Central accommodation train is proving quite a favorite. It goes out and comes in crowded every day.

The evening accommodation on the Western and Atlantic road is quite popular. Many Marietta people take advantage of it and visit Atlanta every day.

SPPOOL COTTON.

THE GREAT ATTRACTION AT THE EXPOSITION IS

CLARK'S SPOOL COTTON.

WOUND ON WHITE SPOOLS.

The manufacturers of this Spool Cotton have now opened in full blast.

They have now put in motion their New Automatic Spooling Machinery, is one which of the greatest mechanical marvels ever produced.

This machine can be seen from 10 a. m. till 4 p. m. EVERY DAY.

One of these machines will spin and wind over six thousand spools of cotton every day.

It spools or winds EIGHT spools of cotton at a time.

It lifts up the 8 empty spools, fastens the thread on each spool and measures out the 200 yards on all the 8 spools at the same time.

When it has wound and measured the 200 yards, it then cuts the thread on each of the 8 spools.

It next makes a little incision or slit in the edge of each spool, fastens the thread into the slit, and finally drops the spools, ready for the market, and begins anew with 8 more empty spools.

The incredulous are sometimes inclined to think that there is something supernatural about this machine, it is so wonderfully perfect and complete in every movement, and yet so simple that one young lady is all that is required to attend to this machine.

The manufacturers of Clark's O. N. T. have also put in motion their new Automatic Ticketing machinery which is another great triumph of mechanical skill and ingenuity.

This machine is registered to put the tickets on both ends of the spools at the rate of 170 per minute, or 102,000 every day, and will do the work in a very superior manner to anything of the kind in use.

This marvel will be in operation and can be seen at the hours named below: 10:00, 10:30, 11:00, 11:30 a. m.

At the special request of thousands they will again introduce the young lady who created such furor by stamping the tickets on both ends of the spools at the rate of 40,000 a day. She will therefore be seen every afternoon till the close of the Exposition, at the hours named below: 2:00, 2:30, 3:00, 3:30 p. m.

They have also introduced BOX MAKING and several other interesting processes in connection with the manufacture of spool cotton.

They have on exhibition the handsomest case of Spool Cotton ever seen in Georgia, standing 20 feet high, and got up at a cost of nearly two thousand dollars.

They also exhibit several beautiful cases of Colored Spool Cottons, which for delicacy of tint and brilliancy of color have never been equaled by any other thread manufacturers.

The manufacturers of O. N. T. also exhibit their 100 Mile Monster Spools. The feat of winding thread on such enormous spools has never been successfully accomplished by any other thread makers.

They have also on exhibit 10,000 Japanese Work Boxes, each box containing 8 spools of O. N. T. Cotton, which they will offer to the public at the low price of 50 cents each.

The manufacturers of CLARK'S O. N. T. SPOOL COTTON are preparing to distribute, FREE OF CHARGE, 100,000 sample boxes of this celebrated thread, which will be prepared in the building.

The manufacturers of O. N. T. are in the proud position of being the largest manufacturers of spool cotton in the world, giving employment to upwards of 6,000 operatives.

The enormous increase in the demand for this celebrated thread has compelled the manufacturers to build an addition to their present works in Newark, N. J., and next year, when completed, will give employment to 1,200 more operatives.

There are several brands of CLARK'S TIREADS, and there is a very general impression amongst consumers in the south that O. N. T. is wound on black spools. In justice to themselves the manufacturers of O. N. T. beg to correct this very general mistake, and would state that the O. N. T. is wound on WHITE SPOOLS, and the bottom label of every spool is branded O. N. T. NONE OTHER IS GENUINE.

At this time the manufacturers of CLARK'S O. N. T. SPOOL COTTON are making a special effort to introduce this thread more universally in the south, and would esteem it a great favor if every lady would give it a fair trial and judge of its merits.

It is the popular thread in all other parts of this great country, and it only requires to be better known to become the popular sewing thread of the south.

A full assortment of this Cloth Thread can now be had at retail at

CHAMBERLIN, BOYNTON & CO., W. H. BROTHERTON,

JOHN KEELY, DAVID H. DOUGHERTY, W. S. GRAMLING, and others, and at Wholesale by all the leading Dry Goods and Notion Houses in Atlanta.
